Air Force releases report on unauthorized disclosure investigation

HANSCOM AIR FORCE BASE, Mass. — The Department of the Air Force issued a release and a detailed report on the results of their Inspector General investigation conducted in the wake of the unauthorized disclosure of classified information by an individual at the 102nd Intelligence Wing.

The unauthorized disclosure resulted from a failure in integrity of one person and is not reflective of the reliable, patriotic men and women of the 102nd Intelligence Wing. In fact, the inspection has validated the fidelity and integrity of our Airmen. Over more than 15 years, the 102nd has built a reputation for dependability and excellence within the intelligence community. Our Airmen look forward to returning to serving, protecting, and defending our nation and our state.

With the knowledge gained from this challenging experience, we welcomed the opportunity to help identify problems with Air Force processes that could jeopardize the safe handling of classified information in both the active duty and reserve components. The 102nd Intelligence Wing accepted the inspector General's findings and implemented changes as required to ensure an unauthorized disclosure of classified information does not happen again.

The Department of Justice continues to investigate the actions of Airman 1st Class Jack Teixeira.

Those members of the 102nd Intelligence Wing found derelict in performing their duties are being held accountable, and disciplinary actions are ongoing.
